ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

External lighting on a data collection terminal provides additional illumination in which to capture an image of an optical code to be electro-optically read by the terminal.